T 202.898.5823

With over 30 years' experience, Randy Branitsky holds a critical role managing the firm's teams of contract attorneys that provide litigation support to Firm attorneys and matters. His talent for teaching and instructing serves him well as he may manage at any given time up to 200 attorneys whose responsibilities include, but are not limited to, the identification, review, and production of electronic documents for the firm's major products liability, toxic tort, pharmaceutical, and other complex litigation.

In recent years, Randy has worked in E-Discovery project management and consulting, supervising large teams of contract attorneys undertaking large scale review projects in connection with internal investigations.

Prior to joining Hollingsworth LLP, Randy honed his experience as a seasoned civil litigator representing clients before various state and federal trial and appellate courts and state and federal regulatory agencies. With clients including Fortune 500 companies and multinational conglomerates engaged in complex civil litigation, he was responsible for the development of plaintiff-side and defendant-side litigation and settlement strategies, and all aspects of discovery, motion practice, trial preparation, jury selection, and appellate practice. Measured in his approach, Randy also represented individuals, small businesses and non-profits before courts and other tribunals, in matters ranging from estate administration and immigration to land use.

When not practicing law, Randy never turns down a good weekend road trip that allows him to disconnect, explore new country, and experience interesting adventures.
