Annica Mae Mattus practices in the Firm's Pharmaceutical Products and Toxic Torts & Products Liability groups. Her responsibilities include, but are not limited to, legal research and writing, analysis of information for depositions and discovery, and other tasks relating to the defense of mass tort claims in complex litigation.

Prior to joining the Firm, Ms. Mattus served as a Judicial Law Clerk to the Honorable Brian F. Holeman and the Honorable Jennifer M. Anderson of the Superior Court of the District of Columbia, where she researched and drafted orders for both civil and criminal matters, including judicial foreclosure, and real estate, employment, contract, and corporate law matters.

Ms. Mattus received her J.D. from American University Washington College of Law, where she was Managing Editor and Symposium Editor of the National Security Law Brief, AU Law's student-run publication on national security law. During law school she worked as a Legal Intern at the U.S. Navy JAG Corps, and later as a Legal Extern at the U.S. Attorney's Office, Sex Offense and Domestic Violence Unit. Ms. Mattus received her B.A. in Political Science from the University of Washington and was Editor of the Washington Undergraduate Law Review.
