

Shannon N. Proctor
Associate

T 202.898.5836 F 202.682.1639
sproctor@hollingsworthllp.com

Shannon N. Proctor practices in the Firm's Complex Litigation, Pharmaceutical Products, and Toxic Torts & Products Liability groups. Her practice includes personal injury litigation involving pharmaceutical products in both federal and state courts across the country. She is experienced in all phases of litigation. Ms. Proctor has authored a wide variety of pleadings, briefs, and motions, including dispositive motions. Her experience also includes witness preparation and drafting expert witness direct and cross-examination outlines.

Prior to joining the Firm, Ms. Proctor worked in a global FDA practice where she advised clients on various FDA regulatory matters. Before working in private practice, she clerked for the Honorable Deborah A. Robinson at the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia and at the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, Office of Special Masters.

Ms. Proctor graduated from Emory University School of Law in 2015 where she was an Associate Justice on the Emory University Constitutional Council. While in law school, she served as a member of AmeriCorps, represented indigent clients in various civil matters, and received the Dean's Public Service Award. Ms. Proctor received her undergraduate degree in chemistry from Jacksonville University. She is a member of the Firm's Legal Aid Committee.

Litigation

Complex Litigation
Pharmaceutical Products
Toxic Torts & Products Liability

Education

Jacksonville University (B.S., 2008)
Emory University School of Law (J.D., 2015)

Admissions

District of Columbia, Florida, and Georgia
United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit
United States District Court for the District of Columbia
United States Court of Federal Claims